

Dr Martin Dougiamas

---

Martin Dougiamas is the founder and CEO of Moodle and the open source Moodle software project launched in 1999, which now includes Moodle LMS, MoodleCloud, Moodle Workplace, MoodleNet, Moodle Academy and more.

From beginnings in Australia, he continues to guide and grow the enterprise with the support of 150 team members globally, 100 Moodle Partner companies, thousands of collaborators and hundreds of millions of users world-wide.

Martin has multiple post-graduate degrees in Computer Science and Education and two honorary doctorates (from Spain and Belgium).

Paul Hodgson

---

Paul Hodgson is the Product Manager of MoodleNet and has over 20 years experience in education, technology and software product management. Paul was an education technology director in higher education for 10 years and has been working with Moodle products for over 14 years as a host, administrator, developer, teacher and trainer. He has also been responsible for digital content and educational innovation using digital technologies.

Paul aims to make MoodleNet the largest federated open educational resources platform globally.

Paul has a postgraduate degree in Information Technology.